Post-Listening Exercise

Option 1:

Which social networking sites do you visit and use? How often do you use them? Who do you contact or talk with on these sites? What are both the positive and negative points with such sites?

Option 2:

Let's talk about the man in the telephone message. What is the man like? Answer these other questions, and then write answers about your own life:

- How old is he? (How old are you?)
- When did he graduate from high school?
- What foods does he like to eat?
- What doesn't he eat much?
- What does he do in his free time?

How is his life similar or different from yours or the people you know?

C. Finally, the students will lead an online searching from home which is going to be socialized the next class:

Online Investigation

Write a message to an old or new friend on a social media Web site. Introduce yourself and your family. Talk about your family, hobbies, daily life, school, and work. Be careful not to share personal information. Use this example to help you get started:
